

CONFERINȚA ESSM – EDIȚIA A II - A 2007

John Dean, MD (Marea Britanie)

Sexual Physician

President-Elect of the International Society for Sexual Medicine

Secretary-General of the European Society for Sexual Medicine

Contact: john@sexualmedicine.org

Dr. John Dean is a Sexual Physician, and practices in London and South Devon, both privately and within the UK National Health Service. Having originally trained as a Family Physician, he has provided psychosexual and biomedical care for men and women affected by sexual problems since 1985. He also provides the UK National Health Service regional service in the South-West of England for people affected by gender identity disorders. He is an active clinical researcher and author, and has a special interest in the effects of prostate cancer on sexuality, chronic prostatitis, women's sexual health, desire disorders and ethical considerations in sexual medicine. Dr. Dean is President-Elect of the International Society for Sexual Medicine, Secretary-General of the European Society for Sexual Medicine, a member of the International Society for the Study of Women's Sexual Health and the European Association of Urology, an associate member of the British Association of Urological Surgeons, and a general member of the British Association for Sexual and Relationship Therapy. He has published around sixty papers, and authored or contributed to four books, on Sexual Medicine subjects. He is chairman of the ethics committees of the Journal of Sexual Medicine and the International Society for the Study of Women's Sexual Health. Dr. Dean trained at The Middlesex Hospital Medical School, London, qualifying MB BS in 1981, and MRCP in 1986. He was elected a Fellow of the Royal College of General Practitioners in 1999.

DISFUNȚIILE SEXUALE FEMININE – PROVOCARE PROFESIONALĂ